Spiritual, Moral, Social, and Cultural Development Policy

We are a Church of England Primary School and this policy has been written with reference to our Christian foundation.

Mission Statement: - 'Let your light shine' (Matthew V16).

It is our Federation mission that each child will have the opportunity to develop their own unique 'light', recognising and valuing their individual starting point and abilities. We believe that our mission statement encapsulates our SMSC aims.

The Governors, Headteacher and Staff at Croscombe C of E Primary School believe that spiritual, moral, social and cultural development underpins the formation of values and should permeate the life and work of the school.

We strive to focus on this aspect of children's development through the planning and implementation of the curriculum and ensure that it is embedded in the daily life of the school.

We aim to provide opportunities to promote pupils' spiritual, moral, social and cultural development across the curriculum. Explicit opportunities to promote pupils' development in these areas are provided in:

- Religious Education
- Personal, Social and Emotional Development PSED (Foundation Stage)
- Personal, Social and Health Education (PSHE) and Citizenship at key stages 1 and 2
- Social and Emotional Aspects of Learning (SEAL) throughout the school

A significant contribution is also made by our Christian distinctiveness, GEM Learning Powers, our caring school ethos, effective relationships, collective worship, and other enrichment activities.

Our intention is that our pupils develop through:

Spiritual development- the growth of their sense of self, unique potential, understanding of strengths and weaknesses, and the will to achieve. As curiosity about themselves and their place in the world increases, they develop answers to some of life's fundamental questions. They develop the knowledge, skills, understanding, qualities and attitudes they need to foster their spiritual wellbeing.

Moral development- acquiring an understanding of the difference between right and wrong, a concern for others and to act on these core understandings. They develop skills to reflect on the consequences of their actions and learn how to forgive themselves and others. They develop the knowledge, skills and understanding, qualities and attitudes they need in order to make responsible moral decisions and act on them.

Social development- acquiring an understanding of the responsibilities and rights of being members of families and communities (school, local, national and global), and an ability to relate to others and to work for the common good. They develop a sense of belonging and an increasing willingness to participate, together with the knowledge, skills, understanding, qualities and attitudes needed to make an active contribution in each of their communities.

Cultural development- acquiring an understanding of different cultural traditions and ability to appreciate and respond to aesthetic experiences. They acquire a respect for their own culture and that of others, an interest in others' ways of doing things and curiosity about differences. They develop the knowledge, skills, understanding, qualities and attitudes they need to understand, appreciate and contribute to culture.

Rationale:

In our Church of England School, the ethos is founded on Christian values and in particular on the unique capacity and worth of each individual. Spiritual, moral, social and cultural development is taught through all subjects of the curriculum. It supports all areas of learning and contributes to the child's motivation to learn. It is recognised that such development will be most successful when the values and attitudes promoted by the staff provide a model of behaviour for the children.

Aim: To promote spiritual, moral, social and cultural development of our pupils in ways appropriate to their age and development

Principles of Teaching and Learning

Spiritual, Moral, Social and Cultural development will be achieved through the whole curriculum which includes the subjects taught and the activities and experiences which make up the broader curriculum.

Putting SPIRITUAL, MORAL, SOCIAL AND CULTURAL DEVELOPMENT into practice

- Ways in which we currently encourage growth in these areas include:
- Celebration assemblies
- Opportunities for partner, group and team work
- Promoting creativity within the curriculum
- Quiet times for thought and reflection, including stilling activities in class and at assembly time
- Encouraging response to stimuli through discussion and creativity
- Exploring feelings and emotions within class, at assemblies and in Circle Time
- Behaviour policy promoting responsibility and the acceptance of consequences but making provision for reparation of relationships
- Promotion of self-respect and respect for others through curricular themes and discussion;
- Provision of an environment where individual differences are accepted
- Fund raising for charities
- Valuing and displaying work by all
- Collective worship
- Visits to the church for worship and activities within the context of the Creative Curriculum
- Visits from the Rector and lay members of the church and representatives from other faith groups
- Day and residential visits
- Community Learning Partnership (CLP) with shared activities

The Building Blocks of SPIRITUAL, MORAL, SOCIAL AND CULTURAL DEVELOPMENT

Ways in which we shall continue to develop growth in these areas:

Religious Education: developing children's inner life by participating in times of stillness and reflection when looking at religious texts, ideas, stories, religious beliefs

Art: reflecting on artists' work and investigating art from a variety of cultures

Literacy: use written text to develop understanding of the world, other people and themselves; reflect on texts and the feelings experienced as a response

History: develop a sense of empathy and enquiry when exploring studying past societies and events

Geography: stress that there should be equality of people in the world; understand the vastness of the world and its finite resources

Computing: understand the effect that technology has on the way communication takes place, and in particular the awareness of safeguarding principles when 'Cyber-communicating'

Conclusion

The success of this policy will be determined by viewing our children as they learn and play in the school community. The quality of relationships and responses to the world around them will indicate the extent to which the school is fulfilling our aim.
